Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 14 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain or showers for many areas over the weekend.

This Evening and Tonight:
Heavy showers and some thunderstorms over western areas dying out, ahead of a band of rain moving east across much of England and Wales overnight. Some clear spells in the north with a few fog patches.

Saturday:
Rain across central areas fragmenting, then variable cloud, sunny intervals and showers, heaviest with risk of hail and thunder across southern parts.

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Showers for many on Sunday, heaviest in the south and west, with hail and thunder. Showers again Monday, though with a focus further east. Fewer showers generally Tuesday. Rather cool.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.